

Kelly G. Collier CMA, B. Comm

Kelly is currently the Chief Financial Officer of Angel Books, a position he has held since inception of the business in 2000.

Kelly worked with Parkland Fuel Corporation for 23 years, from 1984 through 2007. He held various positions of increasing responsibility within the finance group. He was chief accountant from 1984 to 1989, Controller from 1989 to 1997 and the Divisional Controller, Retail from 1997 to 2007.

Parkland is a dynamic, rapidly growing company and Kelly had a wide range of responsibilities. These included:

- Draft the annual and quarterly consolidated financial statements.
- Plan and coordinate all aspects of the audit for annual report purposes and quarterly reviews.
- Preparation and presentation to management of monthly Income and Cash Flow performance on a consolidated basis and for the retail division.

He also had responsibility for budgeting and forecasting as follows:

- Compiling and presenting to management, the annual consolidated operating and capital budget.
- Preparation and presentation to management of the annual Retail operating and capital budgets.
- Monthly presentation of actual versus budgeted financial results and updated forecasts.
- Worked with Senior Management developing 3-year and 5-year business plans for the retail division and compiling and presenting to management, the consolidated plans.

Kelly managed all aspects of the supervision and management of accounting support staff.

He was also involved in a number of projects including:

- Developing and implementing financial and management reporting for the Corporate Convenience Stores network.
- Financial team leader in the installation and roll out of the J.D. Edwards Software System for general ledger, accounts payable and accounts receivable.
- Integration of various acquisitions into Parkland's management and financial systems.

Kelly obtained his Certified Management Accountant (CMA) designation in 1984. He received his Bachelor of Commerce degree with an Accounting major, from the University of Alberta in 1979.

Kelly's community and volunteer activities include: Director and Founding Member for the Annual Self-Esteem Angel Mission which was launched in 2004; Founding Member, Honorary Life Membership, President (2 years), Vice-President (3 years), Director (10 years) for the Self-Esteem Society for Central Alberta, Red Deer; Treasurer of the local chapter of the John Howard Society; and Treasurer of the Clearview Meadows Community Association. He was honored as "Volunteer of the Day" for Red Deer on October 20, 1995.

Kelly's interests and activities include golfing, reading, snorkeling, swimming and volunteer work. He believes in lifelong learning and has continued his professional development by attending numerous conferences, seminars and workshops.